 Students should consult a CFS faculty advisor for details about the progression process and requirements.

Early Childhood Education Teacher Licensure Preparation (PreK -3)

The Child and Family Studies major can provide the undergraduate preparation needed for a student who would like to be licensed to teach early childhood education (PreK – 3) in the State of Tennessee. The Early Childhood Education licensure option is offered in conjunction with a master’s degree in Child and Family Studies (early childhood education concentration). Students who wish to pursue this licensure must complete the Early Childhood Education (PreK-3) Teacher Licensure specialty area and the CFS 470 practicum as an undergraduate. Upon attainment of senior status (i.e., 90 or more hours), students may apply for admission to Teacher Education (see details in the teacher education section of Undergraduate Catalog). They also must apply for admission to the M.S. with a major in Child and Family Studies (see Graduate Catalog for details). Acceptance into the teacher licensure program is contingent upon admission to the M.S. program in CFS. Students interested in this option should work closely with their faculty advisor to ensure that they understand and meet the teacher education program requirements, that they understand the requirements for graduate study, that they strictly follow the application process, and that they follow the current licensure requirements determined by the Tennessee Department of Education.

Service Learning Honors Program

Child and Family Studies majors have the opportunity to participate in the college’s Service Learning Honors Program. For eligibility and requirements, see the 2009-10 Undergraduate Catalog.
