

Elizabeth DeMartino Newton
2016 Lake Ave., Knoxville, TN 37996
865-946-4096
edemarti@utk.edu

Education	Master of Science in Child and Family Studies, Concentration: Early Childhood Education University of Tennessee, Knoxville, TN	2001
	Bachelor of Science in Child Development University of Tennessee, Knoxville, TN	2000

Career History & Accomplishments

- Program Director & Lecturer, UT Early Learning Center for Research & Practice 2012-present
- Pedagogical leadership
 - Course instruction: CFS 106, CFS 350, CFS 385
 - Staff support, supervision, training
 - Staffing and scheduling management
 - Enrollment coordination
 - Emphasis on relationships: Facilitation of meaningful partnerships between families and the program

- Demonstration Teacher, UT Early Learning Center for Research & Practice 2001-2012
- Lab Kindergarten program: Development, initiation, implementation of curriculum, policies, programmatic elements
 - Action research project participation: Examining practices used to support pre-service teachers in the development of reflective practice
 - Supervision of undergraduate & graduate students
 - Toddler program: Curriculum, assessment, teacher research
 - Advisory board participation: Strategic planning
 - Emphasis on relationships among children, families, colleagues

Presentations and Outreach

- Planning & leadership: ELC staff development trainings
- Hosting & collaboration: Area Head Start, Sam E. Hill, Knox Co. teachers, local child care programs, TAEYC conference attendees, ETSU Child Study Center staff
- Presentations: frequent participation in local, state, regional, and national conferences, including TAEYC, NAEYC, & NAEYC Institute
- Making teaching and learning visible: KMA exhibit of kindergarten work, professional documentation shared with local and national collaborators